

Partner With Kerr Street Mission to Strengthen Fathers

The Vision

Kerr Street Mission is launching Father Matters a new initiative to equip, support, and spiritually ground fathers in our community. This program will give Dads a place to:

- Mentor and support one another
- Share openly about parenting, relationships, and mental health
- Grow in what it means to lead with strength and humility

Whether raising young children or guiding adult sons and daughters, this group helps men become the fathers—and the leaders—that the Lord called them to be.

The Opportunity

We are seeking $10,000 in total support:

- This support will cover the costs of the conference (materials and meals) and ensure the weekly program continues to provide vital support throughout the year
- Led by a skilled Christian leader to facilitate the conference
- Free and accessible for all KSM clients

Join us in equipping fathers:

- Send men from your congregation to participate, support and mentor, at our 1st Annual Dad Tired Conference on Saturday October 18th starting at 8:00am (at Kerr Street Mission – 485 Kerr Street.)
- Prayerfully consider contributing toward the $10,000 needed for this conference.

Why It Matters

When Fathers thrive, families thrive. Strong, spiritually grounded Dads bring stability, resilience, and faith to their children and community. Together, we can help Fathers grow as men of faith, strength, and humility!

For more information, or if you would like to get involved please email michelle@kerrstreet.com

Click here to learn more about Dad Tired.

Kerr Street Mission
Oakville's Mission of Hope

Charitable Reg. No. 897106845RR0001

